

The late speech of Mr. Blaine, at Augusta, which we published in our despatches yesterday, shows that the ill-mannered fellow is dying very hard.

The New York World says that Henry Waterson would make a fine Secretary of the Navy than either Robeson or Wm. E. Chandler. We concur heartily in that idea.

FIELD MARSHAL HALSTED, of the Cincinnati Commercial Gazette, although he gives up the result and concedes that Cleveland has been elected President, is still very angry and shows a great deal of the bad temper of Mr. Blaine. They are both trying to renew the antagonism of the sections. They seem to think this the most effectual mode of keeping alive the Republican party as a sectional organization.

COLONEL W. C. GOODLOE upon two occasions, when Presidential contests were pending, made speeches in this city in behalf of the Republican candidates, in which he made use of most extravagant utterances. He said in substance upon both occasions that no Democratic candidate for the Presidency would ever be elected, nor would ever be allowed to take possession of the White House. Both Mr. Goodloe and Cassius M. Clay, were better subjects for a lunatic asylum than as Presidential orators.

The writer of this was not quite old enough to vote for Gen. Andrew Jackson as President in 1832, but was old enough to see him in uniform and in defeat both in 1832 and in 1836. It would give him inexpressible pleasure to be able to witness the inauguration of Grover Cleveland upon the East front of the new capital in 1885. The growing infirmities of age and deficiency of the wherewithal to pay railroad fare and hotel bills, may deprive him of that pleasure, which would be the crowning one of his life.

The Democrats not only have the glorious satisfaction of releasing the country from the further rule of Republicanism, but have generally won large amounts of money from their arrogant opponents. While the hunt for frauds and the demand for a fair count were going on in New York a good many heavy Republican bets were preparing the way to hedge. The daily telegraphic announcements from the Republican National Committee, were weak devices for the purpose of frightening Democrats to make them with their drawn blades. Thank the Lord, they didn't flinch much.

An error of five hundred votes in an Illinois Legislative district, breaks the tie between the two parties and gives the Democrats a majority. This comes general rejoicing because it throws Gen. John A. Logan out of the United States Senate, and sends him to that security from which, for the peace and good of the country, he may never have emerged. If the Democratic members of the New York Legislature, unite with the independent Republicans, and make Mr. Conkling the Senator from that State, as they probably will do, then look out for lively times in the United States Senate.

The laws of Ohio make a stockholder in a corporation liable for twice the amount of his subscription. Quite a number of Kentuckians were caught in the Cincinnati News-Journal collapse and must now put up with a pile of debts incurred by the defunct concern after all they have put out for it. But then they have no consolation of knowing that the country paper in Kentucky thought highly of the News-Journal, pulled it out all over and declared it "a success from the start."—Louisville Post.

The News-Journal was a good Democratic paper, did not prostitute its columns for mercenary purposes, or give place to Republican writers like the notorious "Gath," and, above all, did not insidiously keep up the sectional strife by availing itself of every means to misrepresent and disparage the South. In common with the rest of the Democratic papers in Kentucky, we regretted that it had to succumb to mercenary sacrifices.

The Bracken Bulletin has changed its politics since the election of a Democratic President. Just before the election it supposed that the Republicans were going to win a clean sweep and changed the paper from independent to Republican, and now thinks it has been misled. It is a shame that a man who runs a Republican paper with Democratic surroundings—(Ashland Independent).

It was not because the Bracken Bulletin "supposed that the Republicans were going to make a clean sweep," that it was changed from an Independent to a partisan Republican paper in the late canvass; but because the friends of the Republican candidate for Congress made it certain pecuniary promises, which it had reason to expect would be faithfully kept. In no particular, however, were the promises relied upon, kept, or performed, and since the election the paper has resumed its old position of neutrality and independence.

IS CLEVELAND IN PERIL

Discovery of Enough Explosives to Destroy the City.

The Population Greatly Alarmed—A Mass Meeting Called to Take Prompt Action—Evidence that Terror Work was Contemplated.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 21.—Great excitement has arisen from the discovery just outside the city limits that there are stored over 300 tons of giant powder. Twenty tons dynamite explosives are stored in small buildings in the valley. Should an explosion take place the entire city would be destroyed. Such an explosion would not leave a single wall standing in the city. A mass meeting of citizens will be held to take immediate action.

SHOWN HIS FATE A REVOLVER.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 21.—Charles Leopold spent last evening at the residence of Miss Barbara Winterbauer on the Carrollton road, near here, and while taking his departure about 10 o'clock, took his revolver from his pocket to show to Miss Winterbauer. As her husband was the cylinder of the pistol, and in replacing it, his thumb slipped from the hammer and the pistol exploded. The lady threw her hands up and exclaimed: "Oh, you have shot me!" and fell. A physician was immediately summoned. The ball entered the right side and probably penetrated to the left. The wound is a dangerous one. Miss Winterbauer insists that the shooting was purely accidental and begs that Leopold will not be arrested.

The United States Senate stands, assembly of Republicans to 33, Democrats 27. This division counts as Republican in the Virginia Senators, Mahone and Hildeberger, and the Senate to be elected next year.

The letter by Mr. Conkling, elected by Democratic vote, and should the Virginia Senators disavow Republican hopes, a tie would result, and a deadlock on all matters involving official patronage. These are determined in executive session, in which Vice President Hendricks has the voice.

The trustees of Archbishop Purcell, at Cincinnati, have sent a severe letter to the Finney County in session at Baltimore, containing some pointed strictures on the conduct of Archbishop Purcell, purely successful.

The letter concludes with the following paragraph: "People are beginning to think that if Heaven would all the subjects of the widow and orphan to keep the clerical profession in quinine and splendor, it is time to retire from the sanctuary and devote for other schemes of selfishness." It is signed by Patrick Dwyer, Chairman, and Henry Meyer, Secretary.

A BOMB WAS FRAGILE.

PLEASANT CITY, N. J., Nov. 21.—During a late ball game yesterday Howard Bird and Charles Reid, aged twelve and fifteen years, respectively, quarreled, and Reid struck Bird with a brick.

The latter threw a brick at Bird, which struck him in the head, and he was killed.

ROSSER & MCARTHUR,
Publishers and Proprietors,
TO WHOM ADDRESS ALL COMMUNICATIONS.

A HANDSOME diamond finger ring and pin is upon sale at Heller's European Hotel.

MR. HERMAN LANGER is in receipt daily of new additions to his excellent stock of new goods. His assortment will be as rich and complete as any jewelry store in a large city. Call and see him.

The members of the Washington Fire Company are informed that they will find their wagon and hose carriage at Burrows & Atherton's carriage shop, on Second street, in case of a fire alarm.

It is an old saying that there will be many snows during the winter as the number of the day of the month upon which the first snow falls. Tuesday was the 18th, and so we may expect eighteen snows.

JOHN BUSH will be hanged in Lexington today, having been convicted and sentenced for the murder of Miss Vanmeter. Bush has had several trials and once took an appeal to the Supreme Court of the United States.

The Superior Court, on the 19th inst., overruled a motion for an appeal in the Howard-Cornellison case from Montgomery. This is the case out of which grew the trouble between Cornellison and the late Judge Reid.

We publish to-day Governor Knott's Thanksgiving Proclamation. November 27th is the day fixed and the good people of Kentucky having much for which they should give thanks and praise, will, no doubt, generally observe it.

MR. JAMES SOWER, in payment of a bet on the late election, will, at Frankfort, on Tuesday next, at 12 o'clock m., convey Mr. S. Luscher from the brewery at the east end of the city, to Sower & Ashler's store in the center of the business settlements. The band has been engaged and a jolly time is expected.

This first of a series of winter entertainments was given by Miss Lucy Durst last evening, at her father's handsome residence, near Washington. Dancing, together with a repast of the season's dishes, made this a most delightful occasion. Several carriage loads of young people from this place went out.

We have been shown a very handsome piece of typography, the form of the programme of the piece to be performed at the Washington Opera House, when it opens in January. It has been gotten up by Mr. Thos. A. Davis, at his steam printing house in this city, and is creditable to his skill as a typographer in the highest degree.

B. Bess W. $50,000 that there was a through passenger train run on the North division of the K. C. & R. R. from Mayville to Millersburg, previous to the year 1850. S. holds the stakes. Will the BULLETIN decide who wins before S. gets to Canada.

Don't know—had better ask W. C. Sadler. In the meantime, if S. is about to skedaddle with the stakes, you had better sue out a revent.

Mr. Editor: In your estimable column will you tell me the name of the first paper-maker and oblige.

A LITTLE SCHOOL. We do not believe we were present when the first paper was made, but we distinctly recollect being present in the telegraphic room at Baltimore, when the first telegraphic message was sent over to Washington City in 1844.

FIRE!

I take pleasure in stating that the American Fire Insurance Company, for which Jno. D. Duly is the agent, has this day given me a check in settlement of a policy on my stock, which burned Sunday night. I cheerfully recommend the American and its agent to persons desiring first-class insurance.

November 21, 1884. J. T. KACKLEY.

The exhibition of the finely finished plows at the James H. Hall Plow Company's ware-rooms, attracted a large crowd of ladies and gentlemen yesterday, and the proprietors have determined to continue it through this day. After to-day they will be wrapped and packed for shipment to New Orleans, where we feel very sure they will command the highest premiums, as well for excellent model as for the finish. To the indefatigable labor and attention of James H. Hall, Jr., is the company indebted for the complete success, which has been accomplished in preparing this assortment of plows for the New Orleans exposition. He has devoted his skill and genius for some length of time to the preparation of the very best specimens of agricultural implements in this line, ever prepared in this continent. We hope he may have his reward in full recognition of their superior workmanship by the judges at New Orleans, as well as by all who may see them.

Our community was represented in Mayville on the evening of the Cleveland and Kentucky pageant.

There was a grand celebration in honor of Brother Hendricks and reform, at Abner's, on Saturday evening last.

Brother Stevenson, a student of the Lexington Bible College, will preach in the Mill Creek Christian Church, next Sunday morning and evening.

Prof. E. C. Rodgers, of Lancaster, Ky., will preach his farewell sermon to the people of Mill Creek on the following Sunday of December.

He cannot preach at the congregation next year, owing to the distance from his home and the inclement weather which he has met with.

Washington Notes.

WASHINGTON, November 20, 1884.

Editor Bulletin: It will be right hard to convince our readers that Dr. Burchard was not hired by the Democrats to speak that celebrated piece. It certainly saved as enough votes among the Irish to elect a Democrat, and it was the Irish World newspaper among that nationality.

Blaine had rather have put Grant forward as spokesman and kept Burchard in the background. The general could have spoken to the merchants on the subject of finances and having especially the latter, of which he is such an adept. It strikes one that the general's peculiar style of running a bank partakes something of the order of a fire bank, as both keep all they get hold of.

No doubt Dr. Burchard thought he would make the hit of the evening as he revolved in his mind that sound of a whipper, "rum, rumanism and rebellion," but when he saw the blank eyes before him, he took him long to realize that he, with the Republican party, were hoisted with their own petard.

The Democrats ought to have a grand medal made and presented to Burchard in recognition of his services to their party, they owe the old gentleman a fitting debt of gratitude.

While on the subject of medals, how would it do to have a lot struck for those Democrats who are personal friends for their services to their party at the late election, after having taken part in all the primaries? We can never forget those gentlemen for their gallant and honorable conduct on that occasion.

Editor Bulletin: If the character of the World's Fair is to be decided, depending on any single department, we would, after examining Mr. James H. Hall's display, vouch for its success.

The above fair has used their best material in this undertaking, and the work now being shipped exceeds even their own expectations.

The substantial part of the work on these plows was done by the regular mechanics of their extensive shops, and the article part of the work was done by a Kansas City, Missouri, under the direction of Mr. James H. Hall, Jr.

The collection consists of seventy-two plows of different assortments, adapted to the agricultural interests of the South.

Among all species and kinds of things that are adapted to "Jumbo." So in Mr. Hall's family of city plows there stands at the head "Jumbo," the largest plow ever set up in the world. Without measuring, we calculated it to be about twenty-five feet long, but actual measurement makes the beam just sixteen feet, and, with the handle projection, goes to the very ground.

With a Galish at the handles and a pair of Burman's elephants in the traces a crop of corn could be raised with ease to the lower regions, giving Kentucky the credit of stirring up a— for something to make whisky out of.

Both said, "Burr This."

(Atlanta Constitution.)

Governor Cleveland and Mr. Blaine both have written the advice "Burr This letter." Mr. Blaine said it when he wrote to Fisher and wished to destroy the evidence of his guilt. Governor Cleveland said it to his secretary in reference to the cheeky epistolary attacks which pour in upon him from hungry office-seekers in all parts of the country.

Mr. Parnell Receiving Vile Letters.

(New York special to Chicago News.)

Ever since the election of Governor Cleveland has been connected Mrs. Parnell, the venerable mother of Charles Stewart Parnell, has been the victim of the foulest abuses through anonymous communications sent through the mail. Some of the scurrilous letters are couched in the most disgusting language. Efforts are being made to discover the writer.

This campaign fund of the Republicans gave out before the canvass was over, and left Jones and his committee men highly involved for debts created. Mr. Arthur held command of the United States Treasury and it was not broken into this time with his consent. This entitles him to high respect.

The pieces to be given by the Thespians club at its next entertainment will be three in number. First, "Rain and Fireweather" translated from the French on this occasion by Mrs. E. C. Dillster; Second, "Perfection, or the maid of Munster"; Third, "Thirty minutes for refreshment" a farce.

The many friends of Mr. John W. Watson call upon him to make the race for councilman from the Third Ward, at the January election, 1885, and pledge him their support in full confidence.

VERSUS THIRD WARD.

THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION.

Commonwealth of Kentucky—A Proclamation by the Governor for a Day of Thanksgiving and Prayer.

"The Lord hath done for us great things, whereof we are glad."

I, J. Proctor Knott, Governor of Kentucky, do hereby recommend that the good people of this Commonwealth shall, with one accord set apart and observe Thursday, November 27th, as a day of Thanksgiving to Almighty God, for the manifold blessings he hath vouchsafed to us during the past year, and that while the increase of gratitude and praise from all hearts be lifted up to him, the Great Giver of all good for his exceeding great mercy to us, we should remember the afflicted with brotherly kindness, and gladden the hearts of the poor by the gentle offices of charity.

In testimony whereof, I hereunto sign my name and cause the Great Seal of the Commonwealth to be affixed. Done at Frankfort, this 19th day of November, in the year of our Lord, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-four, and of the Commonwealth the ninety-third.

J. PROCTOR KNOTT.

A Really Able Rat Story.

A large number of rats established themselves in a building between the floor and the top of the hay. The owner of the premises, heretofore continuous spending money in the left, took a fork and removed the hay from the place where the noise proceeded, and uncovered a nest of about twenty rats. Several of these rats and were caught by the dog, but a bundle of sixteen half-grown animals remained on the spot, their tails were raised together, and they commenced a wailing cry. By picking one up the rest all heeded and could not be shaken apart. It was supposed by persons who saw them that, in order to avoid the light, the rats were occupying the top of the pile sought a warmer place by creeping underneath, but, not having room to draw low, they were left as they were. The next rat did the same, and so on until all had changed their position, and very soon the rats' tails raised together, the curious knot that held them together. If they had not been discovered in a kind they would have starved, as they could not have separated.

The Tribune Says It Was Honest.

(New York Tribune.)

The canvas of the returns has been thorough, careful and honest, and leaves no room for doubt as to the result. Many errors in the collection of returns were made, but also many others to balance them in part. By less than 1,200 votes in 1,200,000 Mr. Blaine is defeated in this State, and therefore in the country. The Republicans, who, from the first, have asked nothing but a fair count, will submit to an honest canvass of the returns. They are not only because of their attachment to their great leader, but because they believe the defeat of their candidate and aims will prove harmful to the country.

He Knew It by Sight.

"Johnny, do you know the tenth commandment?"

"Yes, sir."

"Say it."

"I can't."

"But you just said you knew it."

"Yes, I know it when I see it."

No Crow Eating Them.

(Chicago Times-Herald.)

The political canvass this year has been one of the most successful in the people with pleasure attend at the Thanksgiving day soon to be here, and welcome the joy festivities for which a multitude of little folks are now laying plans and listening.

An Office For Rev. Dr. Burchard.

(From the Louisville Courier-Journal.)

It is understood that President Cleveland will make Dr. Burchard chaplain of the Tullahoma.

Ab, Ha! Mr. Gould.

(Atlanta Constitution.)

Gould is a great rascal, and one of these days his rascality may carry him too far.

The Cave of the Winds.

(Washington Post.)

Three weeks from to-day the Congressional hall furnace will "blow in."
